Meet the Babies

Ian Nazmiyal
Nazbro

Vice President

Nazbro may look like a familiar face as he is the younger but superior brother of Noah Nazmiyal. Nazbro has a strong passion for soccer and plays center back for NAMS. He is also a Peer Leader along with being a member of the Global Speaker Series Committee. Nazbro intends on studying either Economics or Business in College.

Steven Freidenrich
Stevebro

Lamp Coordinator

Stevebro and Nazbro do most of the same things, but Stevebro tends to do them better. In addition to playing forward for NAMS, being a Peer Leader, and sitting on the GSS, Stevebro plays the drums in Chameleon and tutors Nazbro and Joeybro. Stevebro intends on studying Business or Econ in college.

Joey Schachtel
Joeybro

Secretary

Joeybro is co-captain of both the NAMS team and the lacrosse team with brother Rossbro. Outside of athletics, he is the president of the Stock Market Club and Make-A-Wish Club and an intern at FanWide Tech. Joeybro spends most of his weekend nights babysitting Nazbro.

Connor Epstein
Rossbro

Selection Chair

Rossbro is co-captain of the soccer and lacrosse team along with Joeybro. In addition to being a student-athlete, Rossbro spends a lot of time managing his community service program, Teen Buddy, as the co-president; as well as his crucial role in Do Something club as the Head of Communications.

Andrew Wilf
Andrewbro

Lamp Coordinator

Andrewbro is brother of co-founder Danbro. Outside of being brothers with Danbro, Andrewbro is co-captain of the golf team, a peer leader, Jewish club president and an intern at FanWide Tech. Andrew does not know what he wants to study in college.

News From The Academy

Somehow, The Galvinator Is Getting Worse

Now that Ms. Galvin's son has graduated, she seems to have suddenly tightened up the rules. The administration has posted teachers in each of the parking lots, monitoring to make sure nobody can leave the school. Luckily, as the Brauer's have made their exit, the new dining service provides food that is at least edible, so there is no longer need to go to Chipotle once a week. Additionally, each of the baby lamps have had their phone snatched by an administrator in what was thought to be in the safety of their own senior corridor. Stevebro, Nazbro, and Rossbro went to the Director of Admissions (no longer Mr. Taylor) to try to leverage their position as tour guides to get the administration to loosen up the rules. No phones have been snatched since, but the results remain to be seen. In other administrative news, a new receptionist has been hired (in charge of attendance and marking students late), a woman who is potentially the hottest NA faculty hire of all time (aside from Ms. Hone). Needless to say, the babylamps have been late quite a few times since...

Auditorium Upgrade

Newark Academy intends to expand their enrollment. As a result they are creating a new auditorium to accommodate for more students. Unfortunately, this means morning meetings, pep rallies, global speakers, and other events are all taking place in the gymnasium for this year.

NAMS & Sports

NAMS and 4 of the baby lamps prepare to enter their final state tournament. Coming off a shaky regular season, with arguably their two best players injured (Joeybro missed all but three games), the team has finally gotten nearly entirely healthy and will field 9 starting seniors in their tournament run. In other news, Girls soccer is having one of the best seasons in program history, led by two sophomore phenoms. NAGS is in the prep finals and is the 1 seed in the state tournament. With a new coach, football is also having a solid year, finishing up 4-2 behind a strong junior QB, a huge upgrade from Lawbro.

- ❖ Dream destination | My favorite place to travel to has always been Italy, but I'm also interested in doing a safari type trip. I'm going to India this December and doing a few days of safari in one of their national parks so I'm looking forward to that.
- ❖ Future Goals | I just started working at a consulting firm in July, so kind of taking things one step at a time. At some point I'd like to be involved in Republican party politics.
- ❖ Advice for fellow lamps | To the younger lamps, I'd recommend studying abroad. I thought it was a really great experience to visit so many different places with my buddies and who knows when you will get that much free time again.

Brother Feature | Kiranbro

Kiran Damodaran| KiranBro

NA Class '17 | SLS Class V
Hometown: Chatham
Age: 20

About Kiranbro: Kiranbro is currently a Junior at Yale University. Kiran is President of the Yale Undergraduate Consulting Group, and is also involved in club sports, finance and community service. He graduated from Newark Academy in 2017 where he was both a soccer and lacrosse captain, a vocal leader of the animal welfare club, and the esteemed peer leader to two babies lamps, Stevebro and Joeybro.

College Advice: I know everyone says it, but college passes quickly. Plan for the future, but live in the moment. Take advantage of the opportunities around you, but don't make yourself too busy. Doing well matters, but grades won't make you happy. Focus on the things that do - like the people you meet and the experiences you have - and don't take yourself too seriously.

Post-College Plans: Probably finance or consulting, but I'm planning on either doing Teach for America or Peace Corp right after college and I'm also looking into a few post-grad fellowships.

Favorite SLS memory: Honestly, I could point to any Roots dinner for this one, but I think my favorite memory is probably tapping Brahm. Aman and I made him run laps around an abandoned church parking lot and I really thought he was going to start crying. His running form was atrocious.

Future Ideas for the Brotherhood: As we keep growing, I would love to see more interaction between brothers beyond big group events and between different class years. Especially as we get bigger, I think it's huge for the older guys and younger guys to still get to know each other well.

Tell Us About YUCG: YUCG stands for the Yale Undergraduate Consulting Group, which I'm serving as president of this year. It's a great group of people and we get to do some really cool work with real companies and firms. It's personally given me the chance to do substantive work on projects with the International Monetary Fund, Uber, and a local bicycle co-op (for every bike they sell, they give one away to someone who can't afford one to encourage interactions between different communities in New Haven).

UPDATE: The Lamp Charter

Brothers,

I hope you are all doing well wherever this note finds you! The Baby Lamps and I greatly appreciate you taking the time to read the first official edition of The Lamp Chronicle! We hope our seriousness about elevating the brotherhood to new heights rings loud and clear after reading this edition. While we believe this layout is a step in the right direction, we are constantly looking to improve brother engagement. If you have suggestions for improving The Chronicle, please reach out!

In addition to The Chronicle, we are excited to announce that we are in the process of writing the first edition of the Official Charter of the Silver Lamps Society. The Charter will serve as a tangible representation of the founding of our brotherhood and will include a mission statement, written history of The Lamps by Founder Lamp Pintobeanbro, and information on the inner workings of our society. It will be printed and presented to the brotherhood at the upcoming Roots dinner. If you are interested in contributing to the Charter, please reach out to me at 973-454-4397. We are looking to include as many lamps in the drafting process as possible! More details will follow in the coming weeks and a draft of the charter will be circulated to and approved by the brotherhood before anything is printed.

The future is looking bright for the Silver Lamps Society, and we will continue to work hard to elevate SLS to the highest level possible. Stayed tuned for the next issue of the Chronicle, updates on the upcoming Roots Dinner, and more!

I am looking forward to seeing you all soon!

Your Brother,
Cosibro
